ENTRANCE TO HUGE NEW BRITISH TUNNEL RAID SHELTER.

PROTECTION FOR LONDONERS—Eight huge tunnel shelters, each large enough to accommodate 8,500 people, are being constructed under London's subway stations in preparation for whatever the Luftwaffe may offer in fall and winter bombings. Women, Children Are Removed From Besieged Volga City

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

MOSCOW, Tuesday, Sept. 22.—The Russian high command announced today on the 29th day of Stalingrad's gallant stand that hundreds of additional German shock troops had fallen in violent street fighting, which has found the Nazis too hard pressed to bury their dead or rescue their badly wounded.

Nazis Achieve Retooling of Plane Plants

LONDON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Qualified British observers said today that the appearance of four new German high-performance warplanes on the world's battlefronts in the past few weeks indicated that Reichsmarshal Goering had achieved a major retooling "swap over" in the German aircraft industry.

They said the use of the new model fighters and bombers in battle showed that they were in mass production despite the opinions expressed by some air experts that the Germans would be unable to make major changes in models during the heat of the Russian campaign.

The latest German fighter was reported by the Russians yesterday to have made its appearance in action on the Russian front. It is the Messerschmitt 109-G, described as a high altitude, partly armored plane with a liquid-cooled 1,700-horsepower engine.

Has 3 Cannon.
Experts here said such a plane would be a formidable addition to the Luftwaffe's vaunted Focke-Wulf 190, already reported followed up by an improved model.

(Red Star, the Russian Army newspaper, said the ME-109-G, although armed with three cannon and two machineguns, lacked the speed of earlier model Messerschmitts. The newspaper said the 109-G would do 250 miles an hour at 3,000 feet and 325 at 12,000 feet.)

It has been confirmed officially that the Germans have used a new Heinkel 177 four-motored, two-propellered heavy bomber over Britain recently.

Unofficial sources have reported the appearance, also, of a pressure-cabin Junkers 86-P bomber reconnaissance plane with a ceiling above 40,000 feet.

Regarded as a significant feature common to the JU-86-P, the new FW-190 and the ME-109-G was the fact that they all were reported capable of operating above 35,000 feet—out of anti-aircraft range.

Follow U. S. Lead.
Sources here said the Heinkel 177 can operate at about 23,000 feet on bombing missions, and that this was about the height from which the Flying Fortresses of the United States Army Air Force bombed German-held territory in Europe successfully by daylight.

The Heinkel 177 is equipped to carry the heaviest load of any German bomber ever to fly over Britain, indicating that the Germans are copying the big bomb-carrying trend in the RAF while following the American lead in subsurface operations.

While frequent bad weather over Britain limits the use of such extreme high altitude bombers, which must have clear weather to operate, their extreme operational height makes interception by fighters difficult. It takes approximately 15 minutes for a fighter to climb to 40,000 feet, by which time the bomber can be some 60 miles away.

A midnight communique said that the Red Army had even improved its position in one sector of the battered city where "our forces pressed back the enemy and destroyed 12 tanks and about two German companies."

Front dispatches said the Germans were hurling men and tanks across the crumpled bodies of their own dead in an increasingly frenzied attempt to reduce the badly wounded Volga river city named for Stalin—"Man of Steel."

(Reuters quoted the Vichy radio as saying that German troops had crossed the Volga river five days ago but did not disclose the point of the reported breakthrough.)

German heavy guns were pumping shells incessantly into the squares and thoroughfares of Stalingrad, but the latest official bulletin said of the fight:

"Several attacks were launched in one sector by a regiment of German infantry supported by tanks, but they were all repulsed with severe losses for the enemy."

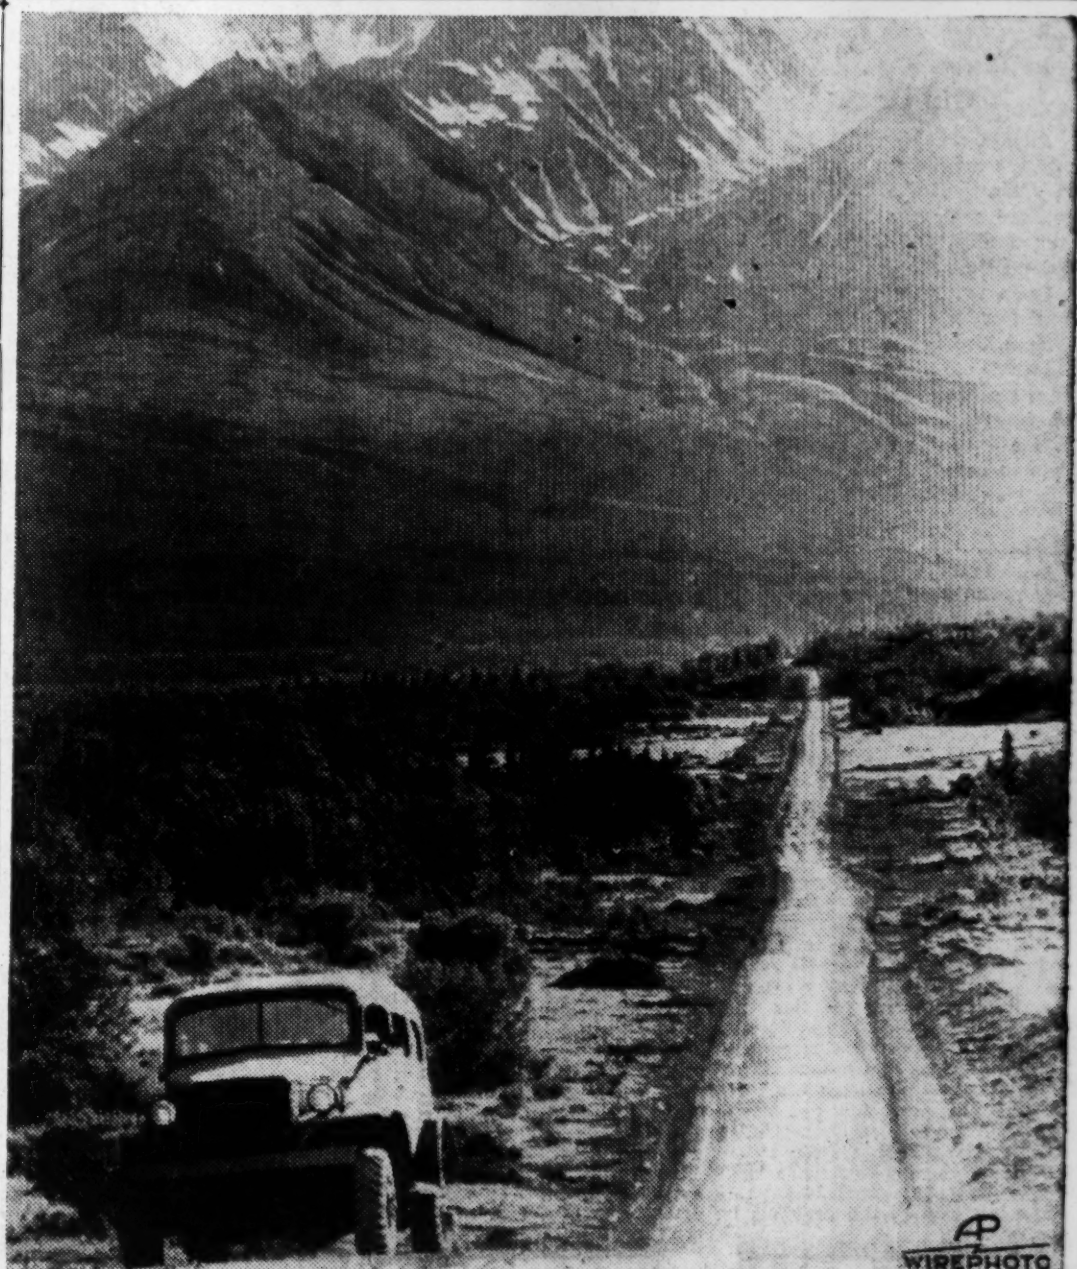

One Red unit wiped out 230 Germans and destroyed 24 motor vehicles and three mortar batteries in the house-to-house fighting, the communique added.

In the Mordok area of the mid-Caucasus the Russians said their outnumbered troops had inflicted heavy losses on the enemy in continued successful defensive fighting.

On the Black sea coast southeast of Novorossiisk the Red Army likewise was holding the Germans in check, the communique said.

In the Voronezh area of the Upper Don the Russians were said

Council Passes To Deny Bail to Moral Suspects

City council yesterday passed one of the strongest ordinances of any city in the country in an effort to strengthen municipal authority in a fight against vice and the spread of venereal disease.

Under the measure any person even suspected of immoral conduct may be arrested and held without bond pending a physical examination by city health officers, and may not be released by anyone except health officials.

The measure gives the usual authority to arrest and hold prostitutes or inmates of a house of ill repute, or solicitors, but proceeds to apply the law to persons registered falsely as man and wife in a hotel.

Several months ago, city administration leaders launched a fight against vice and social diseases and attempted to invoke the state law which authorizes state health officers to hold persons suspected of having venereal diseases for examination without bond. This was attacked by several women, who claimed city health officers are not state officers, and that the municipal authorities were without authority under the state law.

Since no municipal ordinance covered the question, Councilman James E. Jackson yesterday brought in the new ordinance.

He said the city now has 48 beds in which it could hospitalize infected persons, and that if arrests increase the city will make provisions for more.

Violation of the provisions of the ordinance subjects offenders to a fine not exceeding $300 or 30 days in jail either or both at the discretion of the recorder.

Jackson said he had prepared the ordinance after several conferences with high Army and Navy officials of the Atlanta area, and that they believe enforcement of the new measure will curtail vice and reduce social diseases.

Moderate Temperature Is Forecast for Today

High reading yesterday was 81 degrees. The official forecast for today is: "Moderate temperatures."

Eyes of State Rest On Barnesville Experiment

By KEELER MCCARTNEY.

Georgia farmers are anxiously watching the skies for the beginning of the usual "September gale" that could cost the state from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000 in cotton damaged in the fields.

Cotton is standing in the fields, the stalks white from top to bottom. No labor is available to get it out right away, and the dreaded rains already are overdue.

Most leaders of the cotton industry are looking hopefully to an experiment tomorrow at Barnesville. Mayor Harvey J. Kennedy has ordered his townpeople to close up their stores for the day and help Lamar county farmers out of their plight.

"If we could get more communities to do that we might be able to save the day," said Tom Linder, commissioner of agriculture.

Pretty Bad.
"I have no way of telling exactly how bad the situation is over the state. But it's pretty bad."

E. C. Westbrook, cotton specialist with the University of Georgia Extension Service in Athens, said September ginning reports indicated this year's crop would run to 955,000 bales—or $90,000,000.

Ginning reports on September 1 showed that Georgia farmers had gotten out only 120,000 bales, Westbrook continued. Last year, when Georgia produced only 624,000 bales, the farmers had ginned 125,000 bales by September 1.

Another realistic dread for the farmers is that cotton merchants are discounting low grade lint this year twice as much as last year. There's a scramble among buyers for high grade and middling cotton. They just don't want low middling and lesser grades.

No Encouragement.
A committee of cotton merchants from the state visited War Department officials in Washington last week in an effort to secure a government contract on the use of lower grade lint for war production, Westbrook said. They got "no encouragement."

Buyers are eager to pay 19 cents a pound for middling grade or better because they have a ready market waiting among firms with federal contracts. But they don't want low middling or damaged cotton even at 17 cents a pound.

A hard rain right now would beat the open lint from the bolls, stain it with Georgia clay. Farmers who paid a high price for high

Band Shifted By Army After Union Protest

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP)

A union spokesman defended the American Federation of Musicians today as a "patriotic" organization whose ban against making recorded music for radio stations and juke boxes was "a democratic expression" of the membership.

The defense of the union, and its president, James C. Petrillo, came from the union's attorney, Joseph A. Padway, after Assistant Attorney General Thurman W. Arnold denounced the ban before a senate subcommittee as an attempt "to destroy independent businesses which do not employ musicians."

A third witness, James Nemes, president of the West Palm Beach (Fla.) Junior Chamber of Commerce, complained that a group of Army musicians at Morrison air field were "transferred to Texas" after they played for two war-bond dances without permission from the local union.

Nemes told the Interstate Commerce Subcommittee that two weeks after "July jubilee week" in which the orchestra aided in record war bond sales, local union leaders wrote Petrillo that the junior chamber "had the gall" to obtain the orchestra's service "without permission of the union." He said the transfer subsequently was ordered, "apparently by the War Department."

F.D.R. Asks Congress To Give Navy 3 Billion

100 Million Sought To Arm Merchant Ships

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP)

The President sent congress a letter today asking an additional appropriation of $2,731,154,308 for the Navy, which would increase the total cash supplied to the sea service in this fiscal year to almost $17,000,000,000.

Among the items listed by the President were $100,000,000 for additional arming of merchant ships against the submarine menace and $820,000 for the procurement of helium.

Most of the new money asked in the President's letter was earmarked for the Bureau of Aeronautics, but details of how the $960,000,000 additional sought for this bureau would be used were withheld except for a notation regarding helium.

Also included in the request were the following items: $734,216,136 for pay, subsistence and transportation of naval personnel; $204,448,642 for pay of the rapidly expanding Marine Corps; $250,000,000 for Marine Corps supplies, equipment and miscellaneous expenses; $339,166,000 for pay and miscellaneous expenses of the Coast Guard.

The new appropriation, expected to receive prompt action by the house, would raise to approximately $27,000,000,000 the funds made available to the Navy and its affiliated services in the last three years. The highest previous annual appropriation for the department was $16,724,776,997 for the fiscal year that ended last June 30.

SCHOOL INCREASE.
BRUNSWICK, Ga., Sept. 21.—Since the opening of the public schools of Glynn county on Monday, September 14, an increase of more than 800 pupils has been recorded. The increase is attributed to the large number of defense workers who have removed to Brunswick since the close of the local schools in June.

DeKalb Will Begin Scrap Drive Today

While scrap-happy Atlanta and Fulton county looked forward to the final collection tomorrow of more than 4,000,000 pounds of scrap, DeKalb county prepared to get in the scrap today with 14 WPA and county trucks attacking the war-vital job.

The all-out scrapout will open in DeKalb this morning at 7:30 o'clock when the trucks begin to gather their loads from the curbs in and around Decatur.

Already the curbs look as if housewives and husbands had gone on a housecleaning spree to end all housecleaning and thousands of pounds of guns-to-be are waiting to be added to the heap.

Scrap metal, rubber and rags are the objectives of the campaign, with money from the sale of the scrap going to civilian defense work in DeKalb.

Fulton officials, overjoyed at the tremendous response, watched the poundage in the county's drive hit the 3,000,000-pound mark with more to be collected tomorrow.

The city itself yesterday had turned up 2,132,000 pounds of scrap, according to W. C. Harris, chairman of the county drive. East Point, College Park, Hapeville, Bolton and other communities delivered the rest.

Pointing out that the scrapout had exceeded all expectations, Harris cited the fact that "we beat

Council Votes Continuance of Salary Bonus

Approximately 4,800 municipal employees, including school workers, yesterday were assured continuance of a 10 per cent salary bonus for the final quarter of the year when city council voted $125,000 for 2,800 non-school workers and sent the resolution to Mayor Hartsfield for his sanction.

Approximately 2,000 school employees already were assured funds necessary to continue their bonus contingent only on council voting the boost for non-school workers.

Council also gave major consideration to the war effort and of coordinating municipal activities to it in the following actions:

1. Voted to make R. B. Jett, superintendent of the city garage, czar of the 325 pieces of motor equipment operated by the municipality.

2. Sent to the city attorney for study a proposal by Mayor Hartsfield that he be empowered to act for the mayor and council in dealing with federal officials in all war matters in which the city is concerned.

3. Waived an ordinance prohibiting advertisement on city equipment as it affects the war effort.

Other actions of council follow:

1. Confirmed nomination by Mayor Hartsfield of N. F. Collins to succeed J. A. Thornton as a member of the motion picture operators' examining board.

2. Sustained the aldermanic board in declining to revise a contract between the city and Ted H. Von for concession privileges at the municipal airport. Von asked for a reduction from $625 a month to $450.

3. Established the post of assistant superintendent of the Atlanta waterworks at a salary ranging from $4,000 to $4,400 a year.

4. Ordered the permits of the Postal hotel on Fairlee street and the Hudson hotel on Whitehall street revoked.

Enough Airdromes in Britain To Destroy Reich, Says Eaker

LONDON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Brigadier General Ira C. Eaker, chief of the United States Army bomber command in the European theater, declared today in an interview that "there is hardly a corner of Germany" which United States bombers "will not reach" within the next few months.

"There are enough airdromes in the British Isles now built and building to accommodate all Allied air forces needed for the destruction of Germany."

"I believe it is possible to destroy the enemy from the air. By destroying his aircraft factories you can put an end to his air force. By destroying his munition plants and communications you can bring his armies to a halt. By destroying his shipyards you can make it impossible for him to build submarines. The winning side in this war will be the one that has the biggest and most effective air force."

German Tirpitz On Prowl in Arctic Convoy Waters

LONDON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Word that the great German battleship Tirpitz is on the prowl along the Russian convoy route raised the possibility tonight of the first major Atlantic sea battle since the sinking of the Bismarck, the Tirpitz' sister ship, 16 months ago.

New Gasoline Ration Tickets Go Into Effect

Stations Have Busy Day as Motorists Use Up Old Ones.

Atlanta service stations yesterday had a brief spurt in business as Atlantans, who have carefully guarded their gas ration cards waited until the last moment to redeem them.

Some motorists who had managed to save one, and in some instances, two and three of the tickets which expired yesterday, drove into the service stations and turned their remaining tickets into gas.

"I heard I'll get up for the first time in months," one service station attendant said as a motorist redeemed three of the tickets. The new series of ration tickets became valid this morning.

Holders of supplemental gasoline ration tickets expiring October 22 may begin today making application for renewal of the extra allotments, but their applications will receive closer examination, Harry Sommers, regional OPA rationing chief, said yesterday.

First fleet rations issued under the present coupon system expired yesterday, but "B" and "C" rations for passenger cars will not begin to expire until a month hence. Fleet rations were issued for a two-month period, and passenger car supplemental rations cover a period of three months or more. Local boards were permitted to tailor supplemental books to fit individual needs by extending the expiration dates, thus cutting the supply of some motorists, Sommers pointed out. Consequently, some rations will not be accepted at the present time. Under rationing regulations renewal applications may be filed with local boards anytime within 30 days of the expiration of the previous issues.

Sommers urged that motorists eligible to apply now for new allotments do so at once to avoid the confusion created at the initiation of the present rationing system.

"All renewal applications will be reviewed by local boards," he said, "and any discrepancies or inequalities resulting from the tremendous rush work before will be corrected now."

Mrs. Fernandez was accused of swindling small sums from seven complainants while posing as an heiress.

Unofficial Reports Said the Tirpitz, Biggest Ship in Hitler's Navy, Stole Away from Her Hideaway at Trondheim, Norway, over a Week Ago under Cover of Autumn Fog and the 12 Hours of Darkness now prevalent in the North Seas.

There was official silence here on the question of whether the Tirpitz might have participated in the Arctic battle in which the Germans claimed their submarine and air forces sank 38 of 45 British and American merchantmen out of the biggest Allied convoy ever sent to Russia.

Heavy Losses Likely.

While these Nazi claims were branded exaggerated as usual, unofficial sources expressed the belief that Allied losses likely had been heavy.

In view of the disclosure yesterday by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, that Britain's battleship losses had been made up it was possible that the Royal Navy had sent one or more new capital ships hunting for the Tirpitz.

Alexander's statement was interpreted as indicating that the fleet's newest battleships, the Anson and Howe, were ready and spoiling for action. Both 35,000 tons, they are considered capable of standing up to anything afloat. The Tirpitz herself is listed by the Germans at 35,000 tons, but the British say she is 40,000 tons or more.

Torpedoed in July.

The Russians reported they torpedoed the Tirpitz last July 9 in the Arctic and broke up a Nazi effort to tear into a big convoy. Earlier, in March, British torpedo planes caught her off Norway and drove her back to shelter at another time when she was believed starting on a convoy hunt.

But for the most part Hitler's superbattleship kept to Trondheim fiord during the long summer days when her movements could be easily checked by British scout planes.

Now, with longer hours of darkness and thicker fogs it would be easier for her to slip up the Norwegian coast and into the Arctic shipping lanes leading to Russia, or into the Atlantic.

German's Costliest Ship.

The Tirpitz was launched at Wilhelmshaven on April 1, 1939, the most costly man-of-war in the German navy, and so far she has not done a thing to repay the investment.

After the British sank the Bismarck on May 27, 1941, to avenge destruction of the British battle cruiser Hood three days earlier, the Germans were left with only three capital ships, the Tirpitz and the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, sister ships of 26,000 tons.

The Scharnhorst and Gneisenau participated in the German fleet's dash through the Channel last February and both were damaged, the latter so badly that she was reported recently lying dismantled at Gdynia, on the Baltic. Last accounts said the Scharnhorst was repaired and ready for service.

Bargain-Hunting Males Crowd Monday Night Shopping Stores

By EUGENIA BRIDGES HARTY. An orderly, if determined, crowd in which the "stronger" sex quietly held its own, invaded Atlanta's downtown shopping district last night, taking advantage of the Monday 12:30 to 9 o'clock shopping hours.

The men were in there taking it on the pocketbook with the best of the bargain hunters. They evidenced and did not hesitate to express opinions.

"Honey, take that thing off and let's go home," said the man in the dark blue business suit. The "little woman" had on one of the new ice-cream-cone skirts which insist that a size 40 dress looks like size 40. There's no fooling these modern draperies, for they are cut according to government restrictions with no cloth to spare.

"Mama" Decided. "I don't know that there's much difference, Mama. You'll have to decide," said a bored fat man in a loud checked suit who was comfortably ensconced, coatless, on the pink satin divan of a smart "ladies' ready-to-wear" salon.

He had come up to town for a "meetin' of the Board of Regents," he remarked. It was his first experience in a woman's clothing shop. "Mama" was trying on fur coats.

During the dinner hour, those stores which offered the convenience of lunch counters for their customers, had more diners than they could handle at once.

Luncheon Quiet. Regardless of the overflow crowd, however, the store restaurants were comparatively quiet. Instead of the staccato beat and coloratura character of the normal department store luncheon, there was a low hum. And the timing was leisurely.

The women in the brand-new skyscraper hat said to her dinner companion, who still wore last year's flat-crowned model: "My dear, isn't it wonderful to shop and relax at the same time? I've changed days off with my maid. She's taking Mondays now."

"There are a lot of Saturday afternoon lookers," said the tired-looking salesgirl to her counter companion.

"Almost Like Christmas." "Downstairs is bedlam," replied the other girl. "But we're doing the business, all right. Almost like Christmas."

And downstairs was packed. The basement shoe department revealed a couple of dozen children. "We

Ship Spy Activity In Brazil Admitted By Italian Count

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The Italian Count Edmondo di Robilant, dashing official of the Italian Lati Airline, has confessed after several weeks of inquiry that he operated an espionage ring which has been telling the Axis about ship movements in the South Atlantic, police announced today.

Di Robilant and a number of other persons were under arrest, and police hinted that their inquiries promise to uncover other details of extensive activities of spies in South America.

The 41-year-old count confessed, a police announcement said, he operated a radio transmitter which could communicate with Rome. One of the most sensational reports it sent out was the vital news that the British transport, Queen Mary, touched this port several months ago.

Di Robilant, who once was an aide to the late General Ido Balbo, famous Italian flyer, was married on September 29, 1931, to Mrs. Helen Westervelt Wilson, a native of Salt Lake City. Mayor James J. Walker officiated at the ceremony in New York's city hall. The former Mrs. Wilson's family is reported to be living in Goshen, New York.

The police report said that Di Robilant acted in Brazil under instructions of the Italian Naval Commander Enzi di Vicino, who directed that a radio sender be established. Di Robilant persuaded an Italian technician, Amleto Albieri, to set up a station at Jacarepagua, in Rio de Janeiro state. From the outside the plant presented the innocent appearance of a rabbit and guinea pig farm. Police said that after each transmission Albieri hid the radio apparatus in an iron box and buried it in soft earth.

The transmitter was found September 9, a day after police had seized another sender in the attic of the house occupied by Albieri in Rio de Janeiro.

The police statement said that the Italian Guido Corti, representing Commander Di Vicino, paid Di Robilant 10 contos ($500) monthly, half of which went to Albieri.

In Corti's home authorities found 109 contos ($5,450) in Brazilian money and $102 in United States money, which Corti insisted were his personal savings.

Get Still More Scrap, WPB Aide Advises Public

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP) The War Production Board put it up flatly to the people today: Unless they do an "exceptional job" on harvesting iron and steel scrap this fall, the country's blast furnaces will have to cut down on steel output this winter.

Deputy Director Paul C. Cabot, of WPB's conservation division, said that there was now on hand only about half of the 7,000,000 tons of scrap which must be available to furnaces by the year's end to tide steel makers over the winter months when collections normally fall off.

Cabot reported that scrap stock piles have been rising in the last five months after many previous months of decline.

How Nebraska's Scrappers Collected 104 Lbs. Per Capita

(Editor's note: Many a state is out to beat the extraordinary record of 104 pounds per capita, attained in Nebraska's war scrap drive this summer. Nebraskans will be glad to see their record beaten, and are eager to tell how to do it. They're out to beat it themselves by taking part in this autumn campaign, too.)

(The Associated Press asked George Grimes, managing editor of the Omaha World-Herald, to tell how they did it in Nebraska. His article follows.)

By GEORGE GRIMES.

Managing Editor, Omaha World-Herald

OMAHA, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Nebraska took the national spotlight in scrap collection—104 pounds per person in three weeks—because tens of thousands of men, women and children in the state were willing to work.

Cotton Is Seen As Big Aid in Making Rubber

Seed Hulls Valuable in Production of Butadiene.

A possibility that the southern cotton farmer will furnish the solution to the synthetic rubber problem was indicated yesterday by the regional Office of War Information. Chemical decomposition of cotton seed hulls can be used to produce furfural, a product used in making butadiene for synthetic rubber.

Furfural, a highly successful industrial solvent, is scheduled to be placed under strict WPB allocation and use control October 1. New furfural production plants are now being built and are expected to be operating by April 1.

In addition to cotton seed, hulls from corn cobs and oats provide raw material for making furfural. There are almost unlimited supplies of these by-products of farming, but plants to decompose the hulls create a bottleneck in making the solvent.

Present facilities, plus those now under construction, will provide all anticipated needs for butadiene for the synthetic rubber program, the OWI said.

Iron Balcony Given

To DeKalb Scrapout

One of the big additions to the DeKalb county scrap pile will be an iron balcony, formerly used as a sleeping porch and donated by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Beall, of 1184 Oxford road.

The Bealls' son, J. B. Beall Jr., is with the old Governor's Horse Guard, which is the 101st Anti-aircraft Company serving in the South Pacific.

"I hope that my son can use some of this metal to kill some Japs," was the comment of Mrs. Beall.

At peak hours our Coaches are sometimes pretty well filled. And sometimes people ask us, "Why not put on some more extra Coaches during the rush hours?"

But most riders realize we are up against the Facts of Wartime Life: That no Coaches are being built. That even repair parts are almost a thing of the past. That tires are a real problem.

We could use a whole fleet of new Coaches. If somebody could sell them to us, we'd gladly buy them.

But we have to nurse our Coaches and their equipment to make 'em last.

Surface transport is a vital need. The fact is that the whole United States is geared to private auto transport for more than half the people, and there are buses for only 28% of the people. Now that nearly all the people must soon put their cars up on jacks for the Duration—there's going to be a real problem.

We'll all do the best we can about it . . . and remember that it's part of Winning the War.

Hard work does it—and collecting iron and steel and other metal scrap is hard work. City men went out into the country and helped farmers dismantle and load onto trucks old tractor engines, abandoned hay rakes, broken down threshing machines.

Some suffered broken fingers and bruised bodies—but at the end of the drive good will between farm and city was never higher.

Homes Soured.

Women scoured their homes, and often with tears sacrificed treasured mementoes. Children got out their little red wagons and dumped smaller scrap to collection depts.—and then tossed in the wagon and their tricycles.

The state took off its coat and got to work. There is no other way to scrap flowing to the open hearth furnaces where the ingots are made to be turned into tanks and guns.

Speeches won't do it. Flowery pieces in the paper won't get it. There's only one way to support our munitions industry through scrap collection and that is to put in hours of toil.

People Loved It.

But the people of Nebraska loved it. Here is the answer to the common plea—What can I do to help our men at the front? Here's something that everyone can do, rich or poor, banker or farmer, industrialist or laborer, boy or girl. He or she can get scrap and turn it in. And unless the whole nation becomes that scrap-conscious steel production will slump and our war effort will be handicapped.

Let a mother know that the old flat iron will make two helmets and she turns it in—for she has two sons at the front and they will need those two helmets, or the 30 hand grenades her iron will make.

Scrap Wedding.

Let a farmer know that his cultivator, rusting in the gully, will produce several machine guns, and he'll take it to the junk dealer.

How did Nebraska do it?

Every time a public meeting was held in the state the people got in by depositing scrap outside the door. There was even a scrap wedding, when the guests brought not gifts, but scrap—and it mounted into the tons.

Scrap was substituted for greens fees on golf courses, for the right to play on tennis courts. To get into baseball tournaments spectators had to bring scrap, and teams established their right to play by hauling in scrap by the truck load.

Scrap Dances Held.

Scrap dances were held in hundreds of towns, scrap rodeos saluted the hard-riding cowboys, until, in every community, the source of greatest pride, the source of finest booty, was that growing pile of junk which meant bad medicine for Hitler, Hirohito and Mussolini.

An old scrap campaigner has a gleam in his eye. Churches invited their members to bring scrap to the churchyard. It was turned over to the pastor. In many a small town enough was realized from its sale to pay the preacher's salary for half a year. The Holy Ghost church in Omaha got enough scrap to pay off the mortgage on the parochial school.

Iron Lung Financed.

Out of an abandoned gravel pit and from the farms, Cass county, Neb., found enough scrap to finance that iron lung needed for emergency work for suddenly stricken children. Another county won enough in scrap prizes and donated scrap to provide the longed-for county library. Still another got funds for fire equipment to check those devastating prairie blazes so feared in an area of great ranches.

Rural Parent-Teacher Associations got scrap, sold it, and established their school library, or bought maps, or got funds for the USO, the Red Cross, for medical equipment, for the county cemetery. The city of Omaha, with every home donating over 90 pounds of scrap, cleaned up 25 thousand dollars in hard cash for war funds.

Careful Organization.

It was done by careful organization, and then, by hard work. The county salvage chairman was aided by a volunteer woman chairman—and how the women until that scrap poured in. No one will forget the tears rolling down one mother's cheeks as she brought to the scrap pile a little collection of tiny metal toys, treasured mementoes of her four-year-old who had died, but given now for the use of our Army. Or the war veterans who dug out those helmets, guns, bayonets, gas

MORE SCRAP FOR JAP—There's something else in a bank building besides cash, promissory notes and overdrawn accounts. Officials of the First National Bank building proved it yesterday when they cleaned out their basement, getting a collection consisting of old steel cables, iron doors and gates, old metal files and discarded adding machine covers. Here, Miss Doris Knight, left, and Miss Marion Morris and Miss Evelyn Joiner are examining the pile before city trucks moved it.

No Curious Throngs Tag Willkie In Moscow, But Envoy Eats Well

By EDDY GILMORE.

MOSCOW, Sept. 21.—(AP)—There's a considerable difference between Willkie in Moscow and Willkie in London.

When he went to Britain in January, 1941, there was much the same scene as it was upon his arrival in the Soviet capital yesterday, but from then on things changed.

Newsreels cranked at both places and government officials were present.

But before Willkie got to London proper the King was in on the greeting. Neither Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov nor Premier Joseph Stalin met him here.

In London Willkie put up at one of the most fashionable hotels. Here he's staying at the Soviet guest house.

No Rationing.

His first meal was a beauty—caviar, chicken, lamb, vodka, cognac, two plates heaped with fruit. Rationing didn't prevail.

The Soviet people like the British, isn't sitting on his doorstep and camping in his hall. It never does on such occasions.

Pravda, the Communist newspaper, didn't awaken him in the middle of the night asking him to write a series. The government journal Izvestia didn't send a representative requesting an exclusive story; no lady reporters asked him what he thought of Russian women.

He got up bright and early this morning and walked out the front door. There was no crowd outside. He walked alone, except for bodyguards provided by the government.

No Pictures.

No one recognized him, probably because nobody hereabouts had ever seen a picture of him.

His breakfast guests were not members of the cabinet but two newspapermen.

When he went into the heart of Moscow people stared because of his foreign clothes and his bodyguards, but nobody knew who he was.

He stopped before Lenin's tomb, but was told it was closed for the day. He walked past the Kremlin, but didn't go in. There was a man at the entrance with gun and bayonet.

Later he went into a bookstore, but did not attract as much attention as the new booklet just placed on sale.

Only one paper was published here today. It didn't have a picture of Willkie, but gave a couple of paragraphs to his arrival.

DeKalb Scrap Campaign Will Begin Today

M. Phillips, metropolitan area director.

Phillips said he was informing zone leaders that there was no need for their collecting the scrap and turning it in themselves, because the proceeds from the campaign would go to civilian defense.

"Civilian defense workers co-operated wholeheartedly in gathering the scrap," Phillips said. "A few following the idea of a few weeks ago, wanted to sell the scrap and keep the money for badly needed first-aid posts and other developments in their own sections. But that was in the minority."

The plan for air-raid wardens to get the scrap and the funds therefrom was developed before the all-out scrapout became a fact, Phillips pointed out.

"No matter who collects the scrap or which civilian defense section gets the money," Phillips added, "the government gets the scrap for guns and tanks and bullets."

However, he added that for the best interests of all he was asking that wardens and other CD workers co-operate in having the city's trucks pick up all scrap.

Florida Restrained

In Fertilizer Cases

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP) The Justice Department announced today the serving of a temporary restraining order on Florida state officials to prevent their interference with redistribution of fertilizer by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Acting Attorney General Charles Fahy said the planting time for certain winter legumes will expire October 15 and that unless distribution of the fertilizer was made without delay, the winter crop might be lost.

Assistant Attorney General Frances M. Shea, in charge of the Justice Department claims division, said the injunction was sought to prevent the Florida state commissioner of agriculture, Nathan Mayo, and other state officials from seizing government-owned fertilizer shipped into Florida for distribution to farmers.

Florida officials last week claimed the fertilizer was seized because the state inspection law had not been observed.

Yugoslav Patriots Kill 300 Fascists, Seize Train

MOSCOW, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Yugoslav patriots, carrying on guerrilla warfare against the Italian army of occupation, have killed or wounded approximately 300 Premier Mussolini's soldiers in the past few days near Banjaluka, 150 miles west of Belgrade, the Soviet Information Bureau reported today.

The guerrillas also captured an Axis ammunition train bearing 250,000 cartridges and many hand grenades and shells, the bureau declared.

It added that in the last two weeks Yugoslav machinegunners and riflemen brought down six Axis planes.

Nazis' Executions Nearing Total of Quarter-Million

LONDON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The known number of executions carried out by the Germans in conquered Europe is nearing the quarter-million mark, the inter-allied information committee reported tonight.

Included in the growing list was the shooting of 116 Frenchmen last week.

The latest French victims, put to death on orders of General Otto von Stuepnagel, German commander in France, brought the total to 207,373, the committee said.

The committee, set up by the exiled United Nations governments in London, said this figure was based on information by these governments. It covers formal executions which have followed trials or courts martial and shootings of hostages and other persons announced by the Germans.

The Polish government in exile said 200,000 persons had been executed in Poland since the Germans invaded the country three years ago, 100,000 of them shot as hostages and 30,000 killed in concentration camps.

Since Reinhard Heydrich, the "protector" of old Czechoslovakia, was assassinated last May, 1,765 Czechs have been executed, the committee said, and of this number 525 were accused of being in some way responsible for his death.

The committee declared that 3,000 have been killed in Crete alone since May, 1941.

Fifteen hundred fell before German firing squads or were sentenced to death in France and North Africa in the first six months of this year.

Reports from other occupied countries were:

Belgium: One hundred thirty known to have been executed for sabotage or as hostages.

Greece: In addition to the 3,000 in Crete, 40 persons were shot in Athens this summer and 40 more on the island of Mytilene. The Bulgarians executed several thousands in Macedonia after a revolt against the Bulgarian army of occupation.

Netherlands: The government in London has the names of 200 persons shot for publishing secret newspapers, signalling to the RAF, stealing rations or trying to escape to England.

Norway: "Thousands have died in concentration camps as the result of ill treatment and the result of the mass deportations of Luxembourgers began recently, but up to last June four persons had been executed for underground activities."

Yugoslavia: The exact number executed is not known, but "over 5,000" were shot as hostages by the Germans alone in September and November, 1941.

Luxembourg: No news received since the mass deportations of Luxembourgers began recently, but up to last June four persons had been executed for underground activities.

in unofficial accounts to be throwing heavy artillery, planes and tanks into fighting on the river. Scores of German dugouts were reported destroyed. One Soviet infantry unit was said to have forced a crossing of the Don under heavy fire, pushed the Germans back on the western bank and gained one position after another.

(Broadcast German news reports bore out the Moscow version of grim Russian resistance. The Transocean Agency said "There's nothing new on the Stalingrad front," and then proceeded to explain the German Army's difficulties. It took Nazi engineers, the agency said, 96 hours to clear a 600-foot Russian minefield where 15,000 explosive charges had been sown.)

(In a terse paragraph the German high command said: "In some districts of Stalingrad which the enemy is desperately trying to hold with the help of fresh reinforcements, violent street fighting is going on. Renewed relief attacks against a position to the north of the town collapsed with losses for the enemy.")

(From the deep Caucasus the Germans reported the capture of the towns of Terek and Vladimirovka. Terek is 55 miles from the Grozny oil fields; Vladimirovka is 90 miles from Grozny and about the same distance from the Caspian Sea.)

On this 28th day of the German attack on Stalingrad itself the circle of Nazi artillery had dug craters in the outskirts and left their marks deep in the city. The Luftwaffe poured in bombs at a rate that made the earth shudder, and the torrent of noise was so great that the chatter of machineguns and rifles was all but hushed in the bedlam.

Still the Red Army refused to give way. Dispatches said that all the women and children had been evacuated and that every able-bodied man was under arms and helping in the city's defense. The noonday communique reported succinctly:

"In the Stalingrad area fierce fighting continued. Our units annihilated about two regiments of German infantry, destroyed 11 tanks and 89 trucks and silenced two artillery and eight mortar batteries."

Dispatches emphasized that the fighting was increasing furiously in several sectors. Hand-to-hand and house-to-house fighting mounted in the northwest area of Stalingrad while harder battles swirled on the approaches in other directions.

Scrap Litters Countryside. All the country around Stalingrad was littered with piles of scrap metal which once had been German tanks, trucks and cannon. Soviet dispatches from the deep Caucasus region of Mozdok and the Terek valley said the Russians had repelled several attacks, taking prisoners. On the Black Sea Caucasian coast southeast of Novorossisk the Germans were reported making no progress, with the Soviets holding the shore road and protecting heights.

Another dispatch said the Russians continued to attack furiously from both north and south of Voronezh, where the Germans have their Upper Don bridgehead. In one sector on the south 3,000 Germans were reported killed in three days.

On the Volkhov river front east of Leningrad the Russians were reported to have broken into a heavily fortified forest from two directions, capturing prisoners and blowing up an ammunition dump. In the Karelian sector the Finns, trying to recapture a position, were said to have failed in counterattacks.

'Wave of Opposition' To Petain, Laval Seen. BERN, Switzerland, Sept. 21.—(P)—A "revolutionary wave of opposition" to the Petain-Laval regime in Vichy was reported mounting today in France because of the plan to deport workers to Germany.

The Marseille correspondent of the Zurich Socialist newspaper Volksrecht said bluntly that "the feeling towards the government has worsened generally and rapidly" because of Laval's Axis collaboration.

The Italian Fascist periodical Relazione Internazionale also acknowledged flatly that "Laval knows an enormous majority in the country is against collaboration," and accused the Vichy chief of government of trying to use Germany to block Italian territorial concessions from France.

After flying to the States in March, Mrs. Moore has been living with her family at 992 Washita avenue and decided to go back to Agnes Scott this fall to study child psychology.

Mrs. Moore said she will get her degree in June, and hopes that by that time, her husband, whom she left in Hawaii, will be able to join her.

Hearing Begun On Plan For Oconee Project

'River Would Hardly Float Rowboat,' Witnesses Testify.

Witnesses testified that the Oconee river near Milledgeville "would hardly float a rowboat" yesterday as a hearing on the Georgia Power Company proposal to construct a 60,000-horsepower hydroelectric plant at Furman Shoals got under way before regional federal power commission officials.

The power company is attempting to show that a federal license is not necessary for the development, claiming the Oconee river near Milledgeville is not navigable.

First Examiner Glen R. Lav, of Washington, is in charge of the hearing. The commission is represented by Joseph E. Hayden and Willard W. Gatchell, attorneys, and R. J. Rosenberger and F. D. Nash, engineers.

Harlee Branch Jr. and Preston S. Arkwright Jr., Atlanta attorneys, are representing the power company.

The hearing is expected to continue for two weeks.

Witnesses for the power company were W. L. Ritchie, mayor of Milledgeville; Frank E. Bone, Frank H. Coleman and A. C. McKinley, of Milledgeville, and Lucius C. Montgomery, F. S. Batchelor Sr., and J. C. Rives, of Eaton.

First launched in 1929, work on the Furman Shoals plant was discontinued in 1930. The power company recently asked the federal commission to determine whether a federal license would be necessary.

India Communists In Plea for Gandhi. BOMBAY, Tuesday, Sept. 22.—(P)—The central committee of the Communist party in India appealed today in a long manifesto to the British government to release Mohandas K. Gandhi and other leaders of the All-India Congress and to negotiate with the national government.

The manifesto issued after a weekend meeting also urged the government to lift the ban on the congress and to abandon the present policy of repression.

It emphasized the fact that the national government should be fully empowered and determined to unite and mobilize the people for freedom and the defense of the country in close alliance with the United Nations.

British policy in India, the manifesto said, "Stabs the cause of the British, American, Soviet and Chinese people in the back," and asserted that the main responsibility "for plunging the country into grave perilous crises" lay on England's shoulders.

Fighting General Spurs U. S. Crews. GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Sept. 21.—(P)—A young American general aims at flying with his boys against the Japanese at least once a week and shows he means business by going on 11 raids in less than two months.

He is Brigadier General K. N. Walker, 44, of Washington, D. C., whose wife and two sons, aged 14 and 9, live in the United States capital.

"The boys in the north (of Australia) think the world of him," said the general's aide and pilot, Captain Fred P. Dollenberg, of Philadelphia.

"They figure things aren't so bad if a general's willing to go along and get shot at."

Carrying a bottle of oxygen, General Walker moves about as a plane as it flies on its mission at a high altitude, Captain Dollenberg said.

"Wandering all over a plane like that isn't healthy, but the general figures he can't tell the boys how to go out and to get shot at unless he's willing to get shot at, too."

Swaying in Hammocks, Crew Plucks Tomatoes Lying Down

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Farmer B. Snively Garber's "Rolling Clubhouse" lets workers lie down on the job while speeding production.

To ease aching backs of tomato pickers, Garber invented a two and a half ton contraption that travels down the rows at one-thirtieth of a mile an hour while six pickers lie in hammocks. Each man's daily harvest went up from 1,200 pounds to 2,000.

Neighbors dubbed it "The Clubhouse" when Garber installed a radio for entertainment.

Band Greets Stimson On 75th Birthday

War Secretary Spends Quiet Day at Estate in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(P)—A 40-piece Army band from Mitchell Field playing "Happy Birthday" greeted Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today at his estate, Highhold, at West Hills, L. I., where he was celebrating his 75th birthday.

Two Army automobiles and two Army trucks transported the band and officers to the estate where they were greeted by Stimson who appeared on the lawn dressed in riding clothes.

The war secretary and Mrs. Stimson were presented two bouquets of pink roses.

"After 75 years, I think I am entitled to a nice day at home for my birthday," Stimson said.

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—(P)—Shortly after Toronto's city council officially called attention to anti-British remarks ascribed to Theodore Dreiser, United States writer and lecturer, a spokesman for the Justice Department said tonight that Justice Minister St. Laurent had prohibited Dreiser from making any public statements or speeches in Canada.

The spokesman said St. Laurent's order, issued under Section 21 of the Defense of Canada Regulations, also directed to any person in charge of any public meeting hall, instructing that any speeches by Dreiser in the Dominion were prohibited.

Dreiser was scheduled to speak at the Eaton auditorium in Toronto tomorrow night.

Sight-Seeing Aunt
On This Visit
Sees No Sights

One of my friends remarked to me on the trackless trolley a few days ago that this gasoline rationing has its good points.

"My wife's maiden aunt from Orlando, Fla., has just been up for her annual visit," he explained. "She's a dear soul and we love her."

"But Aunt Mamie is a natural-born sight-seer. If she were in Rome—in Rome, Italy, I mean—she'd stumble all over town with a guidebook in her hand, intent on missing nothing."

"Aunt Mamie has visited us every summer for 19 years. And always she wants to go see Stone Mountain and Kennesaw Mountain and Grant Park and the place where General McPherson was killed and such points of interest."

"That was all right, for a time. Except Stone Mountain. For years I have set my foot down on taking anybody to Stone Mountain. The big rock, in itself, is a sight to see, but I grow tired of trying to explain how Borglum started something and nobody finished it."

"In more recent years my wife and I have tried to explain, tactfully, that Stone Mountain looks just as it did three years ago, that the contour of Kennesaw is unchanged and Grant Park is in status quo except for a lion cub which was born and subsequently died. But our aunt has always insisted on personal verification."

"This year," he continued, "it is different. We explained our tires were thin and we couldn't buy any more. And that our gas was down to the last half pint. So we couldn't take her sight-seeing except by bus or trolley."

"So she stayed at home with my wife and the children and we all had a pleasant visit. Except that she cut it short by a week and went back to Orlando."

A High Crime?

Officials are making more and more complaints about violations of the gasoline restriction rules. Undoubtedly there are some serious violations—by connivance with wholesale and retail gasoline dealers. That has been proved. But no crime on a large scale.

Now they're complaining that some folk get some gasoline tickets from a friend who doesn't expect to use them and obtain extra gasoline on them. That's illegal and it's wrong, of course, but I don't think it's going to cost the nation a battleship.

Americans always have resented sumptuary laws or restrictions interfering with personal liberties and conduct. We shouldn't—in wartime—but we do. Those of us who enjoyed a drink—and many who never had cared for a drink—resented the prohibition law. Where is it now?

The laws make a difference between ordinary misdemeanors and crimes involving "moral turpitude," which I take to mean grand larceny, murder, arson and offenses which cause serious trouble to the victim.

It's pretty hard to convince a

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

SIM AND SUE.

"Upon my word! What on earth has happened to you, Percy?"

"Well, you see, Miss Johnson, we were just discussing the war, and Sim and I were talking about the war, and Joe and Bill and Carl and me were saying how much we wish we could get in there and fight. And Percy, he says, 'Humph, if you didn't do any better than some of these bums we've got now...'"

And by the time he got that much out, I threw my books on the ground and nailed him side of the head, and he tumbled over in the puddle. And that's all I know about it, Miss Johnson. I wish you would ask Joe and Bill and Carl if that's the way it happened. You see, Miss Johnson, my daddy is in the Emory Unit, and Joe's daddy is in the Army, and Bill's daddy is in the Navy, and I—"

"That will do, Sim. And I will excuse Bill and Joe and Carl, and thanks for coming. I would like to have Sim and Percy remain," said Miss Johnson.

"And now, Percy, do you have anything to say?" she continued.

"I do, Miss Johnson. I apologize to Sim for what I said, and I apologize to you, too, Miss Johnson. And I promise you I'll not say anything again about the men in the Army or the Navy, unless I have a much better reason than I had for what I said this morning."

"Very well, Percy. And now you may go."

When Percy had left the office, Miss Johnson turned to Sim and said: "I think you are a fine young American, Sim; but may I remind you that you should have said, 'Bill, Joe and I'?"

"Yes, mam, I did."

"And why?"

"Yes, Miss Johnson, I am glad to tell you why, but may I ask if you would mind to call Joe and Bill and Carl, since they were present and heard what was said?"

"Certainly, I will be glad to chap that if he borrows and uses a four-gallon gas coupon from his brother-in-law he is a traitor to his country, subject to be shot at sunrise. He knows it's wrong—but so is parking overtime in a one-hour block. But who suffers remorse over that—unless he's been handed a ticket?"

Come See Us, Annie

Little Orphan Annie, having sunk a submarine, organized the Junior Commandos, cleaned up all the junk in her town-ship and run down two sinister Fifth columnists, is entitled to a vacation. But if she took it in the mountains I'm sure she'd discover a concealed Nazi munition plant hidden away among the peaks.

Annie, a strip heroine—not a rival of Gypsy Rose Lee—appears daily in several hundred newspapers, by syndication.

It is perhaps a pity they can't syndicate Annie in person and have her do her stuff in a thousand towns.

She would wake us all up and start us doing things. She would be an inspiration to herculean effort.

And a dadburned little pest.

One of my favorite syndicate columnists is now hotly in favor of the government's confiscating all usable tires in use by civilians for pleasure driving.

It pains me to remind his readers that he announced several weeks ago he had sold his car, including tires. But who believes anything a columnist writes?

Talmadge Sinclair, in the armed service at a "far distant Pacific port," had a hankering for shrimp a week or two ago and could find only the canned variety.

He felt like he'd had a letter from home when he read the label. The shrimp were canned at Darien, Ga., Sinclair's old home town.

VENTILATOR COVERS AND TROLLEY TRACKS

Editor, Constitution: I read in The Constitution Westbrooke Pegler's column "Fair Enough" where he mentioned taking automobile bumpers from the people. While I think that it is a very wonderful source of metal I think the government should take the metals that are doing no one any good at all. I am speaking of the old streetcar tracks here in Augusta. Why they have escaped the scrap heap this long is more than I can answer. Perhaps you can find out the answer.

I recently returned from a furlough and had an opportunity to stop over in Memphis. There, also, was a large assembly of metal going to waste. Almost the whole length of the main street on both sides along the buildings were these iron ventilator covers which held pieces of colored glass.

I think they could be replaced by wood. I know that my ideas aren't worth much, but it's a thought anyway.

MILITARY SERVICE AS COLLEGE CREDITS?

Editor, Constitution: A considerable number of seniors in the various state colleges failed to graduate last summer, lacking a few credits toward receiving their diplomas. Most of these men planned to make up their credits the past summer but were unable to do because of being inducted or commissioned in the military or naval service. Therefore they will be unable to complete their work toward degrees for which they worked four hard years.

It would seem that the Board of Regents at their meeting next Tuesday could order that these men be given their diplomas and in lieu of the few credits they lacked toward graduation that their military or naval service be in lieu thereof. Other states have taken similar action.

Many of these men, offering their lives for Georgia and the republic, will never return to their homes. Such action by the regents would meet the approval of all Georgians.

Talbot Raps Bus Line Removal

Talbot citizens filed a protest with the Georgia Public Service Commission yesterday against the removal of a morning bus line, operating between Macon and Columbus via Talbot.

According to the petition signed by Mayor A. W. Bivins, Attorney G. R. Jacob is acting on the authorization of the town council of Talbot. The dispute is between the town and the Southern States, Inc.

Elimination of the morning bus service, according to the petition, means that the town is deprived of the only morning travel connection with Macon or Atlanta. Because of the tire situation, the petition set forth, the service is a necessity.

The company, the petition charged, had no legal right to eliminate the service without having given the community a hearing.

Buy a Bond And See Free Movie Today

Theater Doorman Will Honor Any Denomination as Ticket.

Today's the day they give movies away—for a war bond bought at a theater booth.

All day today any person buying a war bond at the bond booths in the Fox theater, the Grand theater, or the Cameo theater, can walk in the show free except for the tax charge.

Also, the bond will be honored by the doorman at the Roxy and the Capitol theaters, and the Rialto theater downtown, and the Rhodes theater at Rhodes Center. Any denomination bond will do, from $25 on up. Just show the stamp that proves it was bought at a theater on September 22 and your seat is on the house.

The free movie day is another gift of Atlanta showmen to the public in an effort to stimulate war bonds sales during the month of September, when the theaters have pledged their efforts to sell a billion dollars' worth of bonds nationally.

Next theater bond-selling project will be the appearance here on September 29, one week from today, of Veronica Lake, blonde star, who will be the guest of the Better Films Committee at a luncheon at the Ansley Hotel. Purchasers of $100 bonds may have luncheon with Miss Lake. Tickets are now on sale at the bond booths of banks and department stores. The $1.25 charge for the luncheon may be paid at the door on presentation of the bond ticket.

First Rent Ceiling Case Filed in City

Temporary Injunction Granted; Hearing Set for September 28.

The first case resulting from the ceiling placed on rents in Atlanta as of March 1 was filed yesterday in Fulton superior court.

O. B. Evans, of 451 Loomis avenue, S. W., was granted a temporary injunction against Stiles A. Kellett, who had secured a dispossession warrant, and J. M. George, marshal of the civil court of Fulton county. Judge Hugh M. Dorsey, who granted the restraining order, set the hearing for September 28.

In his petition, Evans stated that on March 1 and he was paying rent of $14 per month and that he had paid rent at this date through October 15. He said that Kellett informed him in May that his rent would be increased to $30 per month and that, on May 25, the landlord ordered him to vacate the house in 60 days. He contends that, under the federal rent-freezing order, he has the right to remain in the house at the same rent he paid March 1.

Legion Urges Drafting of Labor, Capital

Roane Waring, Named Commander, Raps Those Hampering Effort.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 21.—(P) Drafting of both labor and capital for war production and the lowering of the military conscription age to 18 was demanded today by the American Legion in the closing session of its three-day streamlined national convention.

Almost as one voice the 1,500 delegates passed resolution after resolution demanding a more vigorous war effort. Not a floor fight developed throughout the convention and Roane Waring, Memphis utility executive, was chosen national commander by acclamation.

In a blistering acceptance speech, he assailed those hampering the war effort as saboteurs and traitors and said the time to act realistically with them had come.

Pledging the Legion's fullest support to the President in the war effort, Waring at the same time called for the protection of personal liberties and "to the end that the government continue to function along constitutional lines."

Today the Legionnaires heard Donald M. Nelson, War Production chief, declare that the fat of easy years upon which Americans have been living will be worn away within a year.

"We have hardly begun to feel the pinch," he said, adding by next year 60 per cent of the country's production would be for war as compared to the present figure of 40 per cent.

Emphasis was placed on air power in another resolution approved by the Legionnaires. Proceeding on the theory that if an attack should come on the nation it will be airborne, they urged that every effort be welded to bring the nation's air force to its highest possible strength.

Before Fred Johnson, of Alabama, had completed his speech nominating Waring for national commander, the delegates had carried the banners of every state on the speaker's platform. The usual election procedure was suspended to name Waring by a rousing acclamation.

The Legion's distinguished service medal was awarded to General Douglas MacArthur in an impressive ceremony in which Major General James A. Ulio, adjutant general of the Army, accepted it in his behalf.

SPAIN REAFFIRMS POLICY.
MADRID, Tuesday, Sept. 22.—(P)—The Spanish cabinet early today reaffirmed the country's foreign policy, particularly its "anti-Communist character" and the "imperatives of the new European order."

Tossup Between Husband, Son In Woman's Choice for Draft

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(P)—If she were allowed to decide whether to give up her husband or a son under 20 to the draft, a woman's choice would be unpredictable, Dr. Richard Brickner, psychiatrist and vice chairman of the Emergency Committee of Neuro-Psychological Societies, concluded in an interview today.

"Women do tend to shift the ego more to the son than to the husband," he said. "After all, the woman has made the son, but she invented or adapted her husband. I am convinced that in most homes one goodbye would be as hard as the other."

Deep Affection.
"I have been much impressed recently by the deep affection between husband and wife, whether they have been married five or 45 years. Family solidarity, intensified by the war, seems to have brought them closer. They think they couldn't live apart."

Shifting the argument, the psychiatrist said:

"Sending a son to the service has done many a mother a lot of good. Mothers of boys that age usually find themselves in a position of not being particularly necessary to anyone. The husband is doing all right. She and he have forgotten youthful ambitions and worries. They seldom stop to appraise the life they have built together."

"The wife becomes wistfully despondent. Seeing her son in uniform gives her a refreshing feeling of importance. She can be convinced that mothers have invested more in the war than any other class. They produced the bodies that have grown to manhood."

Examples Cited.
There are so many types of women, the doctor added, that except to a psychiatrist their actions are unpredictable.

He cited a mother who gave Godspeed to five sons who joined the Army and Navy and who approved her husband's desire to enlist.

Then there's the sort who would protest against son or husband going into service.

She thinks both should be working for her," he said. "That's the kind that does most complaining about the sugar rationing."

The psychiatrist's final decision on the controversial question:

"You have to really know a woman to predict how she's going to behave when the draft comes to her home."

James Johnson Dies at Home In Carrollton

Retired Businessman and Churchman Succumbs to Long Illness.

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
CARROLLTON, Ga., Sept. 21.—James Marion Johnson, 81, retired Carrollton businessman, died at his home here Saturday after a long illness.

Mr. Johnson was born in Randolph county, Alabama, and came to this city in 1895 and engaged in the general mercantile business. Later he operated a livestock firm and an automobile dealership.

In 1878, Mr. Johnson united with the Church Baptist church at Graham, Ala. In 1900 he and 12 other local men organized the Carrollton Central Baptist church. By 1913 the church had grown to such proportions that a new structure was built, the present Tabernacle Baptist church.

On September 13, 1885, he was married to Miss Sarah Elizabeth Heaton, who died in 1941. One son, W. D., died in infancy.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. J. S. Upchurch, Mrs. H. C. Smith, and Miss Elizabeth Johnson, all of Carrollton; three brothers, Clayton Johnson, of Nottoway, Ala.; Frank Johnson, of Villa Rica, Ga.; and Dempsey Johnson, of Meridian, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. Ada Hicks, of Ranburne, Ala.; Mrs. Robert Cook, of Carrollton, and Mrs. Ellen Casper, of Meridian, Texas.

Funeral services will be held Sunday from the Tabernacle Baptist church, with the Rev. E. G. Kilpatrick officiating, assisted by the Rev. Pat Johnson. Interment was in the City cemetery.

Crime Gaining, Hoover Tells Police Chiefs

Juvenile Delinquency Is Mounting Rapidly, Association Hears.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(P)—Crime is definitely on the increase and enforcement alone is not the answer, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said today in a speech prepared for the war conference convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police here.

"Juvenile delinquency is mounting rapidly and unless we all do our jobs better, we can expect another era of lawlessness such as swept the country after the last war," Hoover added in the address read in his absence by his assistant, Hugh Clegg.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, who also addressed the police chiefs, called for decreased consumption of liquor and stricter supervision of drinking places as national war measures.

Hunting down the green-clad Japs in the jungles of New Guinea is the job of Captain Bill Martin, of Chickamauga, Ga., one of the American pursuit pilots strafing the invaders in the Owen Stanley mountain range, according to recent press dispatches.

With Lieutenants Claude Burnett, of Memphis, and Ray Hilliard, of Asheville, N. C., Captain Martin has also a sizable score of Jap zeros to his credit.

Following the Buna-Kokoda train "banging the Japs incontinently," Captain Martin and his buddies burned everything in sight.

"Whenever there was an open spot we could see the Nips and their mules running wildly, trying to plunge into the jungle before our death hail," said Captain Bill Martin, of Chickamauga, Ga., before going overseas in February, 1942. He is the son of Mrs. E. J. Wynn, of Hapeville.

Tojo Quoted As Predicting Tacoma Attack

Seizure of Australian City by January Also Forecast.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Korean sources here said tonight that Japanese Premier Tojo, in a speech before the Black Dragon Society on August 6 had boasted of Japan's plans to seize additional territory in the Pacific and Indian oceans and to conduct submarine operations against Dutch Harbor and Tacoma, Wash.

The Korean National Front Federation said in a statement its agents had reported that Tojo asserted that Japan would be able to occupy the key islands of the New Hebrides and Fiji groups, southeast of the Solomon Islands; Cocos Island, in the Indian Ocean, and the city of Perth, in western Australia, by next January.

Tojo, the underground report said, also told of "plans of submarine movements on the Pacific coast during the coming six months." Tojo, the reports said, "particularly named Dutch Harbor of the Aleutians and the city of Tacoma, Wash."

The federation also said there was this reference to the possibility of Japanese attack on Russia.

"When questioned by Foreign Minister Matsuo regarding the Siberian question, Premier Tojo laughingly replied: 'Do you think the Siberian melon is ripe for the picking?'"

The Korean organization seeks independence of Korea, seized by Japan early in the present century.

Hull Plans Statement On U. S.-Finnish Issue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull intimated today that he might issue a statement soon on United States' relations with Finland, ally of Germany in the Nazi war against Soviet Russia.

At his press conference, Hull was asked for comment in connection with the statement Saturday by Finnish Minister Hjalmar Procopé that Finland wanted to cease fighting as soon as her last fighting could be assured.

Hull replied that he was not quite ready to make a statement, but that he was at the moment engaged in checking all angles of the situation.

Last November it was disclosed that the State Department had informed Procopé as early as August 18, 1941, that the Soviet government was prepared to negotiate a peace treaty with Finland. Later Hull said he still was waiting for the Finnish government to take some notice of this opportunity.

Senate Sets November 1 for Prices Order

Amendment Tentatively Names Date for F.D.R. Directive.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The senate today tentatively approved an amendment to the anti-inflation bill under which the President would be directed to issue by November 1 his order stabilizing prices and wages.

The amendment setting the definite date had been attached by the Banking Committee to the bill offered by Senators Brown, Democrat, Michigan, and Wagner, Democrat, New York, and was approved by the senate on a voice vote.

Action on other amendments was put over until tomorrow, and a vote on the bill as a whole is not expected until later in the week.

Several critics of the measure complained on the senate floor today that it would delegate too much authority to the President.

Senator O'Daniel, Democrat, Texas, demanded that Congress delegate the task by a "loosely worded piece of general legislation." Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, said it was the duty of Congress "to fix definite limitations on the President's power."

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, objected to giving President Roosevelt "uncurbed discretion to do as he sees fit."

Senator Brown, Democrat, Michigan, sponsor of the bill, replied that he did not give the President "unlimited authority."

Representative Cox, Democrat, Georgia, said that if Congress passed such a provision it would be delegating so much power that it "might as well go home."

Nuisance Appeal Lost by Soldier

Entry into military service is not grounds for a stay of legal proceedings brought to abate a public nuisance, the state supreme court said yesterday in a ruling involving the soldiers' and sailors' relief act of 1940.

The federal statute, said the justices, was not "intended to serve as an insulator by which one in military service may endanger the peace, the health and the lives of the people by staying any proceedings brought for the purpose of protecting the general public."

In November, 1941, the Cedar-rap city commission ordered J. T. Pickett to remove an auto junk yard within 30 days, holding it was a public nuisance. The ordinance was sustained in the supreme court, but Pickett sought last May to have execution of the commission order stayed because he had entered the Army.

An additional reason given by the supreme court for reversing the stay order issued by Superior Court Judge C. H. Porter was that the order had been granted without notice to the city commission.

4 Hurs Doomed In Train Wrecking

KARACHI, India, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Four Hurs, members of a fanatical Mohammedan cult in western India, were sentenced to death at Hyderabad today for derailling the Karachi-Lahore mail.

Hemingway Going To War, He Says

HAVANA, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Ernest Hemingway, the novelist, disclosed today he is planning to go to Spain.

At his farm home near Havana, Hemingway told a reporter for the newspaper Avance, who asked him to talk about the war: "I'll talk about that when I get back from it, if I come out alive from this struggle for the liberty and dignity of man," the writer said.

He did not go into details about his plans.

"I am and always have been a soldier. For that reason, I prefer action to talking about the war."

Female Fifth Column Is Reported in Ireland

LONDON, Tuesday, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The British Press Association, quoting an unidentified American officer, said today women figure largely in a fifth column organization trailing American troops in Northern Ireland.

The fifth column, he said, was financed by Germany and its activities carried out by the illegal Irish Republican army.

Many of the women are believed to have crossed the border from neutral Eire and have settled in Londonderry, the site of the American naval base.

Quoting the officer, the press association said "the Americans have been given a strict lecture on the IRA and have been 'disillusioned of the idea that it is composed of outlaws fighting English oppression.'"

Federal Court Here Adopts Speedup Plan

'Arraignment Day' Saves Government $3,000, Originator Says.

Something entirely new in dispensing justice was declared a huge success yesterday as 131 criminal cases came before Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood in United States District Court.

It was "arraignment day" when all defendants were ordered to appear before the court to enter their pleas or motions. No cases were heard. The legal points were not argued, but what normally would be three weeks' work was condensed into little more than three hours.

Originator of the idea is J. Ellis Mundy, United States attorney, who pointed out that "at least" $3,000 was saved the government by this one day of arraignments.

Ordinarily, all defendants would be ordered to appear in court on a given day with attorneys, witnesses and documentary evidence ready for trial. Often defendants will appear each morning for weeks before their case is called.

But under the Mundy plan defendants yesterday only indicated the way they will plead when their cases come to trial. The 27 who pleaded guilty will be sentenced Friday. Other cases will be placed on the court calendar and it will be necessary for jurymen and witnesses, both of whom are paid by the government for each day they are in court, to be present only when they are actually needed for a case. The fact that they will not sit for days before a case is called is what will save the government money.

Milk... a la mode!

Whatever next . . . they're whipping up coats out of milk! Coats that are kissin' kin to camel's hair, rabbit's hair, sheep's wool, cashmere, muskrat, chinchilla! Yes, Aralac true insulators . . . no wonder these milk-fed coats are the softest, warmest, "liveliest" coats you ever laid eyes on! Today we do them young and gay on our tearoom runway . . . 7 parts pure wool, 3 parts Aralac for the football season. Hauling great-coats that weigh no more than whipped cream . . . creamy colors you'll

War work of some kind is claiming the attention of every woman nowadays. No matter how busy with home, children, and club activities, patriotic women are budgeting their time to get in extra hours wherever they are needed. The photograph shows a corner of the Atlanta Terminal station lounge of the USO, where hot coffee and cookies or a cold fruit drink are served free to service men passing through. When the picture was taken Mrs. Turner Simpson, left; Mrs. Leon Frohsin, center, and Mrs. Charles Biggers were on duty. Refreshments are free, as the sign above the hostess' heads indicates. The lounge affords a comfortable place for service men to stop between trains; there are couches for resting or taking a nap, books, magazines, and free checking of baggage.

MY DAY: Living Expenses In the White House

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Sunday.—I have been asked to write a column on how the White House would be run on $25,000 a year. Of course, the question is rather foolish, because the White House is not the property of any private individual. It belongs to the people of the United States and those who live in it are there only temporarily.

Such hospitality as is dispensed there is the hospitality of a great nation. Therefore, it is impossible to discuss adjusting life in the White House as one would adjust life in one's own home.

If the question had been asked me in this manner—How are you going to adjust your life to an income of $25,000 a year in your own home?—I could have answered it with great ease. My home can easily be run on that sum of money.

My life can easily be so arranged that I can live on whatever I have. If I cannot live as I have lived in the past, I shall live differently, and living differently does not mean living with less enjoyment of things of the mind.

So this question of how the White House is to be run on $25,000 a year shows that the individual who asked it has no idea of how the White House is run. Congress pays and prescribes the number of employees. It provides for repairs, for the general upkeep and official entertainment. The President must pay for all the food eaten by everybody in the White House, except on official occasions, and that is sometimes a pretty expensive bill.

Since he is required to pay for the people who are not there for his personal comfort, and since his whole life in the White House is not a personal life, but a public one, I do not think a ceiling which could quite rightly be applied to all of us in our personal lives, could be applied at all to the actual life lived in the White House, or to the President's public life anywhere. The conditions there have to be clearly understood by the people, because there are two entirely different situations to be faced.

No one I know, the President or anybody else, would hesitate for a moment if they were faced with the simple problem of readjusting their lives to keep below this personal ceiling of income, or any other ceiling required for the good of the country. If such a tax brings the war to a close any sooner, or saves any young lives, I feel sure all of us would accept it with joy.

Life of Will Rogers Will Be Filmed With Gary Cooper as Star

By Louella O. Parsons.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—(INS) I wonder now that no one ever thought of it before—Gary Cooper to play Will Rogers on the screen. My goodness, he's a natural, and that's it, boys and girls. It is all over but the shouting. Gary has been offered the part and it looks as if he will accept it. Will was a product of the west and so is Gary. He had the same shy manner that Gary has capitalized on so successfully as a movie actor.

Sam Wood, who has said he wants to take time off, is being urged to make this one picture, and it is my guess he, too, will accept. He and Gary have been together on "Pride of the Yankees" and "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

If you can figure out George Raft "you're better than I am, Gunga Din." Two days ago George said he was through with pictures and all he wanted to do was get into the Army. Today they told me at Warners that Mr. Raft had consented to accept the Raoul Walsh story, "Background to Danger." I understand he is doing the story as originally written. Now Warners say probably George will join up after he finishes "Background to Danger." He is past age, of course, for active combat service.

I was asking Buddy De Sylva to tell me something about William Bendix, whose performance in "Wake Island" make us realize a star is born. Buddy told me Bendix was formerly in charge of a grocery store in Yorkville, N. Y. The depression closed the store, and Bendix became an actor in new York Federal theater. Buddy realizes that what Bendix needs now is a picture that will do for him just what "What Price Glory" did for Victor McLaglen. So an original story, "Stand at Ease," is being rewritten for Bendix, who is now in the east appearing with "Wake Island."

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: I was really sorry to have been the one to break the news that Jack and Venita Oakie had decided to end their 10 years of married life together. They had weathered so many storms and made parted and then kissed and made up. This time, however, a property settlement has been made so it looks as if a reconciliation is very remote. One time Venita went to New York and Jack followed on the next train. He is such a lovely guy, but maybe his nonsense isn't as funny at home as it is on the screen. Yet it always takes two, as my grandmother used to say, to make a quarrel.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Robert Stack, 'tis whispered, gets his commission as an ensign in the Air Gunner Service this week. He is now on a bond-selling tour in Texas; Georgia Bristol, who is said to have reduced Princess Julianna to a perfect 34, is in town with her reducing secret; Jinz Falkenburg, who went East to see her heart, Tex McCrary, is back in town. Only a whisper came out of Martha Ray's generous mouth when she tried to sell bonds—on account of a tonsillectomy—but nevertheless her whisper brought $250,000; Rosemary Coleman, one of the Powers girls, weds her childhood sweetheart, Lieutenant William Denton, on October 17. She was one of the original Powers girls and is also in the movies. That's all for today. See you tomorrow! But Judy Clark, Studio City, Cal., says: "Liberty is one thing you can't have unless you give it to others. Buy war bonds and stamps."

Since moths are so tricky and can quickly cause much damage, it is advisable to put moth balls or crystals between layers of folded blankets used occasionally. When needed, blankets can be hung in the air a short time to get rid of the moth ball odor.

Exercises To Help Normalize the Bust

By Ida Jean Kain.

This is another of a series of articles by Ida Jean Kain in which she stresses physical fitness for women during wartime. Today: Toning the pectoral muscles.

There are two things the overweight can do about a problem bust measurement—bring the weight to normal with a protective diet and tone the supporting muscles with exercise.

The tissues in this area are especially susceptible to fatty infiltration and the only way to reduce the size of the bust is to reduce the weight generally. It is the excess fat that causes the bust to sag. But to improve the contour, the skin and muscles must be toned as the weight is removed.

The bust may be normally broad and flat or broad and full, low and narrow, or high and rounded, but the contour is affected by the tonicity of skin and muscles.

There is no such thing as a magic lotion that will reduce the size of the bust, or develop it for that matter. But this measurement is one of the first places to reflect a loss or a gain in weight. It is possible to reduce the size from a 42 to 36 simply by taking off the excess pounds.

But there is more to dieting than simply leaving off the fattening foods. The low calorie menus must be high in the protective nutrients to increase the vitality while reducing. Vitality has a direct influence on the glands and the breasts are glands. Reducing rapidly and on an inadequate diet would weaken the bosom.

The backbone of your reducing diet must be the foods strongly stressed in our national nutrition program. Milk, eggs, cheese, lean meat, fish or fowl, fresh fruits, green and yellow vegetables, whole grain bread and cereals. These can be included in adequate amounts for the 1,200 calories that meet the average reducing requirements.

Now, about exercise. The pectoralis major is a large fan-shaped muscle lying just under the skin and spreading over each side of the chest. The action center of this muscle is in the upper arm, and arm exercises with the arms at shoulder level will tone the muscles. The exercise will not reduce the measurement, but the improved tone of the supporting muscles gives a better contour. Resistance and stretching bar exercises are among the best. Try these:

Place the fist of one hand in the cupped palm of the other in front of chest. Resist forcibly with the left arm as you push with the right until left elbow is straight out from side. Then push the other way. Repeat six times for a starter.

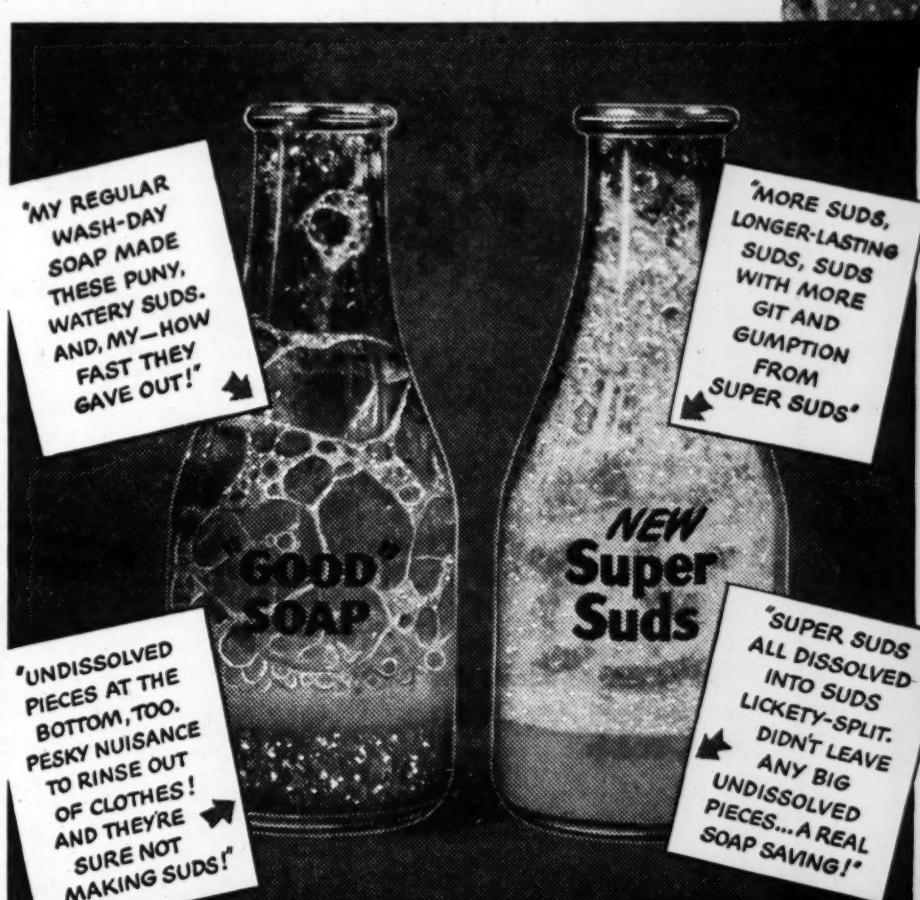

Another good resistance exercise is to stand facing wall, hands on wall, chest height, and resisting with arm muscles, push body toward wall. Push away and repeat.

You couldn't do better by your figure than to rig up a stretching bar in a doorway. Have the bar just so that you can reach it when standing on toes, and lift yourself off the floor now and then.

Thighs are another figure problem that require special measures. Read tomorrow's article on how to correct bulges and hollows along the thighline.

"Bessie, there was so much MORE SUDS I thought I was seein' double!"

says Mrs. Winifred Taylor of Forest Hills, New York

THE "MILK-BOTTLE SUDS TEST" SHOWS MORE SUDS AND LONGER-LASTING SUDS FROM SUPER SUDS.

FLOODS O' SUDS FOR DISHES AND DUDS

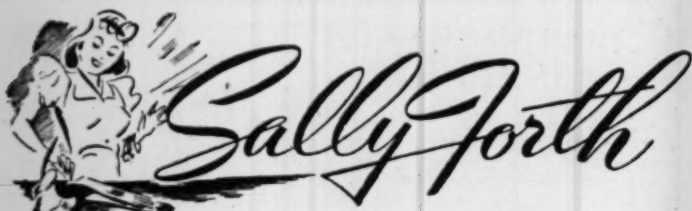

"Never could seem to get enough suds to suit me, so I made the 'milk-bottle suds test' as soon as I heard about it," Mrs. Taylor tells us. "When I saw how much more and longer-lasting suds there were in the Super Suds bottle than the bottle my regular soap was in, I told all my friends about it. Didn't realize there could be that much difference. Come to find out, there was just as much difference in washin', too. Easier washin' and whiter wash . . . that's what I got for spendin' a few minutes doin' the 'milk-bottle suds test.'"

Wish you'd please make this easy "milk-bottle suds test" yourself!

Just put two teaspoons of your present wash-day soap and a glass of water in a milk-bottle. Do the same with new, sudsier Super Suds in another milk-bottle. Use any kind of water, even cold or hard water. Then shake 'em up. Then compare the suds for amount and lasting qualities.

Jaycees Plan Far-Reaching War Program

State's 42 Groups To Hold First War Conference Here Friday.

An integrated program of war activities for the state's 42 Jaycee organizations will be set up during the first war conference of the Georgia Junior Chamber of Commerce, which will be held Friday and Saturday at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Among the projects to be offered the conference for adoption on a state-wide basis will be Jaycee-sponsored recruiting campaigns in co-operation with the various armed forces, expansion of the Atlanta organization's anti-syphilis drive throughout the state, establishment of blood banks and salvage of critical materials.

The plan to extend the anti-syphilis campaign to other Georgia cities is regarded as important to the war effort because of the large number of military trainees quartered in this state.

The conference will open Friday at 10 o'clock with a state board meeting, over which Earl Staples, of Carrollton, president of the Georgia Junior Chamber, will preside. Mayor Hartsfield will welcome the delegates at a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock, and Dr. Pierce Harris, pastor of the First Methodist church, will speak on "What Jaycees Can Do to Help Speed War Plans."

Honorary life membership in the local chapter will be conferred on H. Carl Wolf, president of the Atlanta Gas Light Company, and Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, during the Atlanta inaugural dinner at 7:30 Friday night. The principal address will be by William Shepherd, of Pine Bluff, Ark., president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

General business sessions will be held both Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, with election of new state officers scheduled for Saturday. The state inaugural dinner will take place at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night, presided over by Herbert Hayes, Atlanta's national vice president.

Vice Admiral Rank Is Asked for Rank

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP) The Navy Department asked Congress today to authorize the President to advance Rear Admiral Emory S. Land to the rank of vice admiral even though he is no longer on the active list of the Navy.

James Forrestal, acting secretary of the Navy, said in a letter to Speaker Rayburn: "It is believed that conferring of the additional prestige inherent in the rank of vice admiral would be of assistance in the discharge by Admiral Land of his important duties as chairman of the Maritime Commission and administration of the War Shipping Administration."

Theater Guild To Launch 6th Season Tonight

3 One-Act Plays To Be Presented at Castle Playhouse.

The Atlanta Theater Guild's sixth consecutive season will be launched at 8:30 o'clock tonight with three one-act plays to be presented at the Castle Playhouse, 87 Fifteenth street.

The opening will honor members of the Drama Group of the Atlanta public schools who will be the Guild's special guests. The three plays include "The Antique Music Box," "Enter the Hero," and "The Better Half." Gloria Smith and her accompaniment will be an added attraction.

Those in the casts include Harold Warren, George T. Bush, Frank Woodis, Emmie Bolton, Mildred Rutledge, Jean Scruggs, Charlotte Downing, Frances Gridley, Sydney F. Owen and Barbara Yarn. Directors for the plays, respectively, are Miss Rutledge, Miss Gridley and Owen.

Dr. Frank L. Belyeu, president of the Guild, announces the following plans for the coming season: Variety shows every two

'Bugs' Baer Says:

Well, the fate of the French nation proves you've got to fight to the last ditch and dig one in back of that.

Two million French soldiers are in German detention camps and now French labor joins them or else.

That's the doing of Laval, an organism so low that he would march his own mother through a forest fire with a load of kindling on her back. And cool her off every few feet with an oil spray.

America has its little Laval in the shape of renegade saboteurs, obstructionists and rumormongers, fomenters of labor troubles and conscientious objectors.

We'd better get together before we get a headache no hat will ever cover.

weeks for the boys at the Reception Center at the Fort McPherson Little Theater; monthly presentations of workshop plays at the Castle Playhouse; funds from major productions to be given at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium will go into war work.

This month marks the seventeenth month of regular entertainment programs by the Guild for the boys at the Fort McPherson Reception Center, according to Dr. Belyeu. This record tops all previous ones for consistent presentation of non-professional plays by Atlantans.

Guild officers for the coming season, in addition to Dr. Belyeu, are: George T. Bush, vice president; Maureen Beall, secretary, and Sidney F. Owen, treasurer.

"But, Butch! How was I to know that Maier & Berkele had invisible glass windows?"

For shame! Don't you know that such methods of acquiring what you want are frowned on by the upper crust? Besides, if you'd waited until 9 a. m., you could have had the advice of experts in your choice! Not that anything from M. & B. isn't worth double its price—but we want you to know why it's good! It's another of Maier & Berkele's services that doesn't cost a cent, but adds a lot to the investment value!
